mathNEWS Finds Millie the Duck

Imprint made you curious about the location of Millie the Duck; now mathNEWS provides you with the answers:

As they reported, Millie was rescued from a vicious squirrel attack by a UW student. This brave hero, Peter Lizak, fought off the blood-thirsty rodent, at the expense of his own flesh. He rushed Millie to the mathNEWS Office for immediate care.

Unaware of proper duck-tending techniques, he, and several other members of the mathNEWS staff, placed her in a pot of warm water to keep her temperature up. Sadly, she was left to simmer just below boiling for three hours and was rendered delicious by the "herbal remedies" of rosemary and sage before broiling.

Millie then made a charming addition to the mathNEWS birthday feast, coincidentally held later that day.

Millie à l'orange, yummy baby, yummy!

mastHEAD Conclusion

Thanks to Graphic Services for putting up with us three weeks in a row, the soft pretzel place (have you gone yet?), Sobey's for the cakes we had on Monday, Costco for the cakes we're having on Friday, Daryl for doing all the driving and being the best Costco-member SquizMaster I know, and the C+D. I bought the m&m's there.

approximate answer

mastHEAD

I wonder what would happen if the mastHEAD looked more like the Campus Question or the Iron Inquisition? Well, here's a subset of all the mathNEWS staffs with their Jeopardy-style questions for the answer 29:

Bradley T.
Smith

"Hey Mark, how many days 'til IRS?"
or "How many days in February?"

"How many jobs have I had since I

Nadia V.
Ursacki

"How many years will it take for Snuggles to graduate?"

"How many body and identity doubles

Lino
Demasi

"How old will I be when I stop editing mathNEWS?"

Brian

The Frosh Cornered

Quickie

This is just a quick reminder that I am still accepting your thoughts on what the genders of math and engineering are. For those of you who still want your submission in the next mathNEWS, be sure to send your answers to mathnews@uwaterloo.ca, I know some of you had trouble e-mailing to this address, but that was because of a server problem (that phrase has lost all meaning nowadays) which is now fixed, we still have room for a few more, so get them in over the weekend. Oh, and Happy Birthday mathNEWS from all of the 1B's.

Palindromes are Sweet

Hello! Hey everyone, if you have a palindrome or two that we don't know about like "redivider," send it in by dropping it in the BLACK BOX or emailing mathNEWS.

*grid*COMMENTS

Correction time for the conventional!

Looks like I need to fix my printing, because my 'W's and 'U's look curiously similar, so when a box like the first letter of 17 down (end of 15 across) has a 'W' in it, I might think that the down word should be "UNOREGON." Oh, did I just give out a free answer to the conventional gridWORD? Well, I guess it is for the best. Now, go out and finish last week's grid and get your solutions into the BLACK BOX by Monday evening.

PS: On the previous issue's cover, "Its" should have been "It's" all three times.
